

Leadership: One Man's Perspective

By Gary Aller

*Life is full of events, both good and bad.
We must choose to be happy, or sad.
Our existence can be full of meaning
When knowledge, we continue gleaning.
Some are destined to be guardians of freedom.
Others make sure walls and doors are plumb.
No matter what our paths should be
Whether we travel by air, land or sea,
We will become a success in life
When we come through adversity and strife,
Learning lessons that are always there.
For others and self, we must constantly care.
Celebrating the good that comes to us each day
Will help us survive though our hair turns grey.
We will lead as we remain fixed on our goal
And do not fear the occasional shoal.*
